

POSITION PRIVACY IN AN ELECTRONIC DEVICE

Abstract of Disclosure

A privacy enhancement device for electronic device such as a cellular telephone. In one mode, the cellular telephone operates in its normal mode, whereby its position can be detected by either wap techniques or by GPS techniques. In a second mode of operation, the wap/GPS operation is overridden, so that the position cannot be detected.

Figures